

71 the local memory and the external memory while the graphics accelerator is using the local memory for its load and store operations.

72 62. (Amended) The graphics accelerator of claim 1 further comprising a direct memory access (DMA) engine for transferring the graphics data between an external memory and the memory.